

Guidelines for the College of Education and Human Development Carolyn S. Lohman Advocacy Leadership Award

The College of Education and Human Development established this award with the dual purpose of honoring Carolyn S. Lohman, a long-time advocate for the college and a member of the Dean's Development Council, and recognizing individuals who make a significant impact on the college through advocacy leadership. This award will be presented periodically at the discretion of the college, and as such, may not necessarily be awarded each year. The recipient will be recognized at the Fall Kick-Off Luncheon.

For the purposes of this award, advocacy leadership is defined as the demonstration of skills, practices and commitment, which positively influence the perceptions and actions of various constituents, resulting in the significant advancement of the college's mission.

In determining the recipient of this award, the following guidelines will be adhered to:

1. A call for nominations may be distributed two months prior to the presentation of the award. Honorees will be recognized at the Fall Kick-Off Luncheon held Tuesday, August 16, 2022 in the TAMU MSC Bethancourt Ballroom.
2. Only individuals who are not currently employed by the College of Education and Human Development, and who have demonstrated significant advocacy leadership in support of the college's mission are eligible.
3. The recipient must have made a tangible positive impact on the College of Education and Human Development through, but not limited to:
 - a. Advocating on behalf of the college to a wide variety of constituents including the university community and beyond.
 - b. Recruiting individuals to engage in activities that support the college.
 - c. Demonstrating advocacy leadership as a college council member or volunteer.
4. Any individual with first-hand knowledge of the nominee's impact on the college can submit nominations. The nomination packet should include a nomination letter and no more than three letters of support from the university community. The nomination packet is not to exceed eight pages.
5. Nomination letters should be addressed to Dean Joyce Alexander.
6. The recipient will receive a plaque for the Carolyn S. Lohman Advocacy Leadership Award and two complementary lunch reservations at the Fall Kick-Off Luncheon.
7. Recipients of this award are eligible for nomination again after five years.
8. Nomination packets are to be sent to Wendy Kreider, College Relations Coordinator at Mailstop 4222 or via email at wkreider@tamu.edu by Wednesday, June 22, 2022. Only complete nomination packets will be forwarded for consideration.
